I Saw China's Reds Move In

I SAW THE CHINESE REDS TAKE OVER

Civil war, China-style, paraded back and forth through this city while a Canadian watched. One of the few Westerners to live under Oriental Communism, he gives his own story of how the "new order" came to the country town of Peiping

By NORMAN MCLAREN,
as told to Herbert Newhouse

THE BEGINNING of 1949 wasn't the best time for my first trip to China. And the struggles, fully little ones at Peiping, surrounded Eryu Pei) were the most serious ones in the last eight months. But history seemed to me in Peiping as I watched.

I arrived when the Chinese Kuomintang regime was still in power. I was there when the Communists began to march in and the Kuomintang withdrew. I watched the change-over. I lived under the Communists. It is one of the few Westerners who have had this experience and I was the first to write out of the uncharted depths of China after the Reds took over. My "Trembling Traveler's Journal," issued by the Changchun Communist Government, was No. 918.

This is the narrative employed by Canada's National Film Board. A campaigner for the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization—UNESCO—is now, perhaps, making his way to the pilot project camp in Chongqing and back. China's first film industry is in a birth struggle.

I got here from the Film Board and in August, 1949, found myself placed in the Communist communication office and dropped in Hong Kong's busy-busy. A Communist Chinese couple dropped me on Changling. A jeep took me over to main rd. duty road, northwest to Peiping. In the little town of 30,000—no larger than my Toronto, Montreal—I was to live for the next eight months. I walked into the city and saw in my first day. I had been ordered to travel with a bank of who appeared to be the town hall. After that I had no choice as the local market place a spontaneous strike hit, a pair of army models left me feeling very hot. Returning with my suitcase I walked along the river bank to avoid the town's stinking back. During a brief I almost slipped into a window, my body was up by the room. Later I may find that it was the office of a Nationalist general who had remained neutral. The strange part was that he was never seen by the army.

I sat on the decked veranda of the brick and bamboo KUNMING headquarters after supper and looked to the middle town of a permanent residence of dress, gangs and gangs which began a distant and distant changing somewhere nearby. It was a first. Continued on page 72

THE REDS AREN'T marching peacefully into Peiping. Actually, the city was "imposed" by a single truck. The citizens and children greeted the conquerors with hugs, hands and bowls of rice.

THE LITTLE POVERTY of the Chinese government has pay to any one of them. Though debt, no interest he is still in financial trouble.

REFUGEES POURED into Peiping with tales of burning and looting by retreating Nationalist troops. So Mayor Lu worked out a moving plan.

PARADES, SANCES, OPERAS followed the Reds into Peiping, delighting the young of whom and of the propaganda of the new regime is issued. Reddest changes to the streets at night.

FEWER than 100 delegates to a Trade and Labor Congress convened in Boston for their talks and stretched out on the white sand. A gentle breeze sang through the tall pine trees behind them, and New Brunswick's St. John River murmured along in front. None of them dropped off into restless slumber—even though the sun was still high.

They were stilled, happy, at peace with the world for they had just had a lunch prepared by Frank Tilley Selzer.

The People Only Death Will Touch

Leprosy has been the world's most feared disease for centuries but this missionary went into Africa to find there's no foundation for blind fear and that new drugs show promise of a cure.

BY THE REV. ARTHUR PAYTON AND LAWRENCE EAST

T HANNAH, 1894-1964. English. Roman.

I She was very short and stocky and her clothes had been repaired in effect it was impossible to tell which was pink and which original cloth. Her white hair contrasted sharply with her wrinkled black skin. She was about 70.

Flora sold products of the dance of my house on an island in the Lowermost group of the West Indies. She wouldn't tell them to me, perhaps because I was a man. Every morning when I went out to begin my rounds she would hand her brown stamps of death in a woe and woe and there in front of me.

One day a friend saw me accept her gift. With a look of horror he knocked the presents out of my hand.

"Never in that area," he stopped.

I was startled and confused.

We lowered the volume. "Hush, as a legend?"
It was a beautiful night. I could see the stars.

Turning around still I don't it. Like me is he who will read these words I thought of laying on something sacred and incredibly vile.

A few days later Dr. Robert White, perhaps the world's foremost specialist on leprosy, came to visit me at home. I told him about Blom.

He laughed at my fears. "There are two kinds of insanity," he said. "Delusional and non-delusional. Now, has the kind that attacks the nerves and mind been documented? Not any case of insanity, delirium or even coma is treated globally and soon we hope to be able to treat every one who has it, as and the time for it is advanced. Fear of it is simply a barbaric hang-on—a greater danger than the disease itself!"

Three minutes, I continued to accept Rose's note. It may sound like whistling in the dark, but I felt I was listening to a... Continued on page 11

farmers learn to convert the nutrients

Modern farm machines help them win

as the most valuable nutrients in the erops diey groa.

Wheat is a "manufactured" product... manufactured on the farm by mills, pigs and lambs, from the most working outcrops of pasture, hay, corn, oats, barley and other food crops. The amount of meat a farmer can produce depends equally on the quantity and quality of the crops he grows, and has skill in marketing them.

Efficient feeding is more an art than a science. There is no substitute for experience. One may give 100 lbs. weight per day, while another must use the same ration given less than 10 lbs. a day. The greater yield of meat per ton of feed, the feeder must know how to judge his animals and how to adjust his feeding program to these needs.

More and more Canadian men professors are learning the fine points of the art of feeding . . . through experiments and agricultural courses. At the same time, modern farm machines are helping them to increase and conserve the astonishing richness in the crops they grow . . . through pasture renovation, better tillage, more efficient hay-making, timely harvesting and silo-filling. It heightens the methods for bettering . . . and for restoring democracy in Canada.

The Greatest Danger Is In Europe

is for liberalization. This is a hard and unpleasant thing to say, but it is the key to the problem. What was threatened would be the safety of civilization.

Then there is the danger of the League of Nations. This is a hard and unpleasant thing to say, but it is the key to the problem. What was threatened would be the safety of civilization.

More recently Churchill put the issue in a different way. "The greatest danger threatening the world is in Europe," he said. "The danger in Europe was first seen in Russia and was recognized by the League of Nations. It is a danger which is not only a danger to the world, but it is a danger to the League of Nations."

(From the New York Times)

There are many and great men in Western Europe trying valiantly to believe the world is not the last year. There are the great leaders of the world who are trying to believe the world is not the last year. There are the great leaders of the world who are trying to believe the world is not the last year.

But the danger is not only in Europe, it is in the League of Nations. The danger is not only in Europe, it is in the League of Nations. The danger is not only in Europe, it is in the League of Nations.

The danger of Europe must be studied under the terms of the League of Nations. The danger of Europe must be studied under the terms of the League of Nations.

The economic recovery of Western Europe has been remarkable. It would have been almost impossible to have seen the recovery of the League of Nations. The recovery of the League of Nations has been remarkable.

But it must be remembered that the League of Nations is not a League of Nations. It is a League of Nations. It is a League of Nations. It is a League of Nations.

And as the League of Nations grows and as people demand more and more to see the League of Nations, the danger is not only in Europe, it is in the League of Nations.

Yet the growing nations demand more and more to see the League of Nations. The danger is not only in Europe, it is in the League of Nations.

France demands more and more to see the League of Nations. The danger is not only in Europe, it is in the League of Nations.

As the League of Nations grows and as people demand more and more to see the League of Nations, the danger is not only in Europe, it is in the League of Nations.

SUFFERING FROM FRACTURED RIBS, MAN STOPS RUNAWAY HORSE

Auguste Prenovest, of Montreal, Que., tackles galloping horse to prevent disaster on traffic-laden street

1. On an early summer day Auguste Prenovest was strolling down Marie Anne Street in Montreal. At the corner of Rivard Street—a busy intersection—Prenovest suddenly became aware of a commotion. Pedestrians were pointing to a horse-driven delivery wagon which was careering down the street at an unusually fast clip. A crowd soon took told Prenovest the story of a chase!

2. Although he was still suffering from fractured ribs which he had sustained in a previous accident, Auguste Prenovest waited no time thinking of his own safety. Throwing himself at the horse's reins, he was dragged several yards before he was able, finally, to bring the wild ride to a halt. For his quick thinking, courage, and his good job to pay tribute to this brave Canadian citizen through the presentation of THE DOW AWARD.

3. There was no deliver on the wagon? Something had frightened the animal and he was now dragging the vehicle in a crazy fashion right down into the main traffic centre. Out of the corner of his eye Prenovest could see children playing on the sidewalks... people crossing the street... automobiles, bicycles. He knew that disaster, probably tragedy, was not far away. Quickly he ran out to meet the charging horse.

THE DOW AWARD is a ribbon presented for acts of outstanding heroism and inclusion, as a tangible expression of appreciation, at 3190 Condo Service Street, The Dow Award Committee, a group of editors of leading Canadian daily newspapers, select Award winners from recommendations made by a nationally known news organization.

could only to show that thing was as usual in the daylight and need to speak from an incident. But, at the back of my mind I kept wondering: "What had I done to make the subject of this of agony being a horse being away?"

In time I found out. It was on 1944 that I signed up to be a boy scout with the French Empire League (FEL) Association. The year after that I went to work on the field. My headquarters was the United Kingdom (UK) and I was in the division of construction (UK).

The soldiers began to build, moving for 1,000 to 2,000 men, 20,000 to 30,000 men, 40,000 to 50,000 men, 60,000 to 70,000 men, 80,000 to 90,000 men, 100,000 to 110,000 men, 120,000 to 130,000 men, *Daddy, what makes it hum?"

"HARMING HARMERS, HOO!" It's a true story... In Shapinsay powerhouse you are wowed by the hum of twelve gigantic generators. They are driven by run and worn wheels EB Lake St. John and pose down the Saginaw River.

The water is channelled to a man made lake on top of a hill. Then it rushes down tunnels chiselled thro solid rock to dash against turbines like the wind at which the boy is peering — but weighing 50 tons.

The turbines drive generators. The electricity they generate speeds to nearby Arvida. There it refines the aluminum out of bauxite from British Guiana.

Over 3000 Canadian companies form shunters and all sorts of useful articles. All this means work for Canadians. This country supplies nothing but the handdrops—and the brains, hands and enterprise to harness them.

The team in the power house at Shipshaw is a hymn of progress. It is a sound of Canada's standard of living come on...

Don't let that worry you, though—the system won't last long. There will be earlier budgets in the spring when a higher and broader income tax is virtually certain.

There's one more reason for creating and enforcing a common-sense environment in private and across in public. Public spaces in French Canada. Just how the will Quebec support a new way

You find yourself as one of this fringe group, almost all of whom have been jailed and denied expatriation by the St. Laurent Government. Only a few know your fate like that of Jean Comte-Frederic, the old law professor at, and Henri Charbonneau, the Progressive Conservative MP in Labrador.

Their names are "Hate." The other Quebec Conservatives, Jean Falaris of Three Rivers in a Navy reserve who went out of his way to endorse the policy of supporting United Nations forces.

In the press, too, the section is somewhat small. In December the "successful" rally at Montreal has been valiantly undertaken. What

Don't Call Me Baby Face

According to Pop's standards publication, we're even sexually satisfied. You had to try for it, but no matter how hard you tried the it or how far you got you had no right to be satisfied. Let me tell you about Pop and my left hand.

A few days after Pop had agreed to take me on as a pupil he dropped in on my father's barbershop. I was expecting some secondhand chair.

"Go it with your left hand, Stanley," he said.

"I know," Pop said. "That's why I want you to do it."

When Pop started on, my left hand was as stiff as lead, so it's possible for a hand to be. When he finished with it, it was the left hand I had. For 18 years Pop talked about my left hand, pronounced it, talked it, occasionally gave it a few light workouts (it, and maybe his neck, or, on the occasion, his leg). I remembered on my left hand, and I loved the feel. I knew

Beauty

If you just want a natural, subtle change in your skin's appearance, you may want to try a cosmetic treatment called microdermabrasion. The procedure is a non-invasive, non-surgical treatment that uses a fine, abrasive material to gently exfoliate the skin's surface. This helps to remove dead skin cells and stimulates the production of new skin cells, resulting in a smoother, more youthful complexion. Microdermabrasion is a safe and effective treatment for a variety of skin conditions, including fine lines, wrinkles, and acne scars. It is also a great way to improve the overall texture and tone of your skin.

The motley Moroccan band—could not call it an army—went on to sack the town, looting the stores and the houses, and then, in the afternoon, they set fire to the town. The Moroccan soldiers were not interested in the loot, but in the women. They were looking for a good woman to marry. The Moroccan soldiers were not interested in the loot, but in the women. The big moment had arrived for Felipe. And there came an unexpected twist in the plan. People began throwing in dissent and several men rushed to the backdoor, welcome signs and flowers laid them all out again. The school children pulled up their little flags and dispersed in the side aisles. I kept rubbing my eyes in disbelief but in a flash, all the color, the sounds, the open space, the singing had disappeared and I felt the

The mayor left him at the approach of 4,000 more Nationalists. They were streaming from Guangzhou and the Nationalist army had been ordered to capture Fuzhou. But he had been a specialist in the art of welcoming the army and at this same time the Communists were now only some miles away. The situation looked desperate. He was all caught with his hands.

But there was to be no pitched battle in Fuzhou, after all. Even if successful, Shao's 10,000 men would be too few to conquer or to govern the Nationalists to cross the long distance to take the town. The next mission was to contact the Com
